

OUTLINE OF ONTOCUBISM

Not speculation but explication. Influences: phenomenology, logical positivism

Not consciousness and/or the physical but one world from many perspectives. Without an aperspectival hidden substrate world. Influences: Leibniz, J. S. Mill

Not truth but only evolving warranted belief. Belief is fundamental. Truth is the mystification of our use of “true” to endorse beliefs. Influences: redundancy theory of truth in Wittgenstein, Ayer, and Ramsey.

Not things in themselves but things as manifolds of their appearances. Appearances are immanent or personal. The object itself is transcendent or interpersonal. The core or substance of a thing is “logical.” We co-intend one and same thing as a system of appearances, aspects, moments.

Not private logic in a jar of consciousness but logic that is more communal than personal. The “I” is constructed on the “We.” Concepts, like objects, are between us, not inside us.